

B'nai Israel Reform Temple Bulletin

Rabbi Rosenthal's Message

As the High Holy Days approach, we will hear the terms teshuva (repentance) and tzedakah (commanded charitable giving), a lot. These themes are woven into the liturgy, into the sermons and into the fabric of the day. But they are not the only themes. Two less mentioned but equally important themes are creation and birth. Rosh Hashanah is said to be the birthday of the world, the moment in which God created the heaven, the skies, animals and human beings.

These themes of creation and beginnings bring about all sort of new possibilities.

So, as I look to the theme of my adult education class, this year, I find that I am particularly excited to explore different ways to connect with our heritage. We normally, read, discuss, and interpret passages through our own experiences. This year, I'm excited to explore how we see and feel about the Torah through art- which is so deeply connected to the act of creating something new. Art can mean so many different things to many different people. Art can mean drawing, painting, making a collage, taking photos, and so much more. In addition to the creations we might make together, there are endless possibilities for interpretations, and the creation of our own unique understandings. At its heart, this is one of the true purposes of Judaism: to look at something each year like it is new and unique, with fresh perspective and connection.

If you think about it, art also allows us to see the four primary levels of Jewish interpretation: pashat, the simple plain meaning, remez, the metaphorical meaning, drash the interpretive understanding, and sod, the secret of mystical interpretation. One picture, one creative interpretation, one voice can provide each level. Yet, the person sitting next to you can look at your art and see a different meaning entirely, almost like 2 jews...3 options.

Throughout the year, after Torah study we will look at Jewish texts and liturgy through art forms. Some will be pieces that others have created, and some will be what we create together for fun and exploration. Some will be through visual art, some through music. Some will be through creative writing, and some through drama and theatrical clips.

No artistic ability is required, just an imagination and a willingness to try a few new things.

However, if you are an artist, of any kind and have skills and interest to share in this endeavor, please send me an email: rabbi@bnai-israel.org.

I look forward to sharing this personal interest and passion with all of you, I hope that it will be an inspiration and an outlet to exploring Torah and liturgy. The dates of our adult education classes are listed on the calendar. They are held after Torah study on Saturdays. This year, we will meet in person at Temple.

President's Message

Seth Berman

Once again that time of the year is upon us. The High Holy Day season for 2022/5783 will be starting before you know it. Many volunteers and of course our clergy, office staff, custodian have been hard at work to prepare for the season. While I make it a point not to thank people individually (I know that I will forget someone!) remember when you come to services that it does not just happen.

Members from the Ritual Committee have spent months working out all the minute details that make the services seam to just flow. Members of the Security Committee had to work hard to interview and hire a new security company. Rabbi and Cantor have outlined the service and prepared for us what will be a meaningful set of services. The choir have brushed up on the melodies that will elevate our prayers to a higher level. Karen in the office has single handedly prepared the mailings that you received and answered the calls for tickets. The chairs in the social hall that will be delivered won't just set themselves up, thank you to Ken and his helpers for getting that accomplished. And of course, the "break fast" at the end of Ne'ila (concluding services) did not appear like manna from heaven.

My point here is that it takes a village to make our services happen. Of course, we will have our High Holiday Appeal. That is an important line in our budget. However, just as important is having the volunteers that help out with their time. If you feel that you can help, please reach out to me or the temple office. We would love to have you help us.

As I mentioned earlier the Security Committee did have to hire a new company to provide us with security. This was because the old company no longer exists. The new company has been informed in what we expect, and I am sure that the switch will be seamless. Please remember to have your tickets and ID available as you are approaching the building as you will be asked to show them. It will take a little time for the guards to remember and recognize us as the past guards did, so I ask that you please be understanding. Security and safety are important to us, and these steps will help.

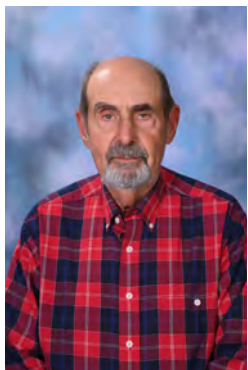

Our High Holiday Schedule will start with Selichot on the 18th. Jeannette and I hope to see you at all or some of the services during the High Holidays.

I'Shalom and Shana Tova,

Seth C. Berman

The B'nai Israel College Connection

Joel Silverman

As the new school year gets underway, we ask that you let us know the names and school addresses of family members who are college bound. Whether freshman away for the first time or students returning to school after the summer break, B'nai Israel would very much like to keep in-touch. And if your college age children are able to be home at any time during the High Holy Days, please let them know that they are welcome to join us for services with or without the rest of the family.

In keeping with that spirit, college students attending schools on Long Island who cannot get home for the High Holy Days are always welcome to attend services at B'nai Israel.

COLLEGE CONNECTION

Please spread the word and help us remain connected with our college-age B'nai Israel family.

We are selling Grocery Store Food Cards!

Contact Rich Lindner (516) 641-8050 or the Temple Office to purchase. Consider donating food cards to the Temple's Outreach Committee to help others in our community who are in need of some assistance.

Cards can be delivered to you!

The summer has really flown by. The High Holy Days are upon us once again. The Ritual committee is hard at work putting together another wonderful High Holy Day experience for us all. After three most unusual years, we are back with a full schedule of in person worship services. It is our sincere hope that as many of you that are able to do so, please join us in person to worship together in our beautiful sanctuary. For those of you that are not physically able to join us in person, Zoom links will be made available to you. So, whether in person or virtually, we will all be together to worship as one congregation. You will find the schedule for all of the services in this bulletin.

It takes a lot of people countless hours working together to make these services and events possible. For fear of inadvertently forgetting to mention someone by name, I want to thank everyone involved in making these services and events realities.

In preparation for the High Holy Day worship, you are invited to join us at 6:30 p.m. on Saturday, September 17th for a catered deli dinner followed by a beautiful Selichot service at 8:00 p.m. Details for the dinner and service are in this bulletin and on our website.

Please join us in bringing Rosh Hashanah to some of the Assisted Living facilities in our area on Tuesday, September 27th. Please see below for the visitation schedule.

Mark your calendars for decorating our new outdoor Sukkah at 6:00 p.m. on Sunday, October 9th. This will be followed by a 7:00 p.m. service and a fall dessert buffet after the service. Check this bulletin for further details.

Rejoice and celebrate Simchat Torah with us at 6:00 p.m. on Sunday, October 16th. We will be unrolling a Torah scroll around the Sanctuary and we will sing and dance with the Torahs in the parking lot.

As we begin the New Year of 5783, let it be a year of good health, peace, and love for us all.

L'Shana Tovah tikatevu!

The High Holy Days are fast approaching and so is the annual B'nai Israel Food Drive. As in the past, we will be asking for donations of nonperishable, nutritious food items to be donated. We will then distribute the food to many charitable groups who service many areas in our communities. In addition to food, disposable diapers and baby formula, and baby food are badly needed. Whenever you come to the Temple please bring your donations and put them into barrels in the lobby or into the coat room.

There are many of us who find it difficult to get out to shop and then carry bags into the Temple. The gift cards sold in every supermarket and pharmacy are the perfect solution. They are easy to shop for and bring, and they are easy for the recipients to use.

The need is great in our neighboring communities, but it is also present within our own congregational family. Many of us have faced illness, loss of jobs, and rising food costs, as well as increased rental and utility costs. A monetary donation into the B'nai Israel Outreach fund will help us to help others in our own family and community.

Just a few of the organizations that we help throughout the year are: the Chestine Coverdale Sayville Food Pantry, the Veteran's home, the Share A Meal Soup Kitchen in Sayville, The Eastern Suffolk Farm Workers, local families, and many others. It is a great source of pride to be able to help others...to be able to say that B'nai Israel Temple is there for you.

So, I'm counting on all of you, just as I always have, and I know that you will be as generous as you have always been.

As we enter the New Year, let us pray for shalom and love in our world.

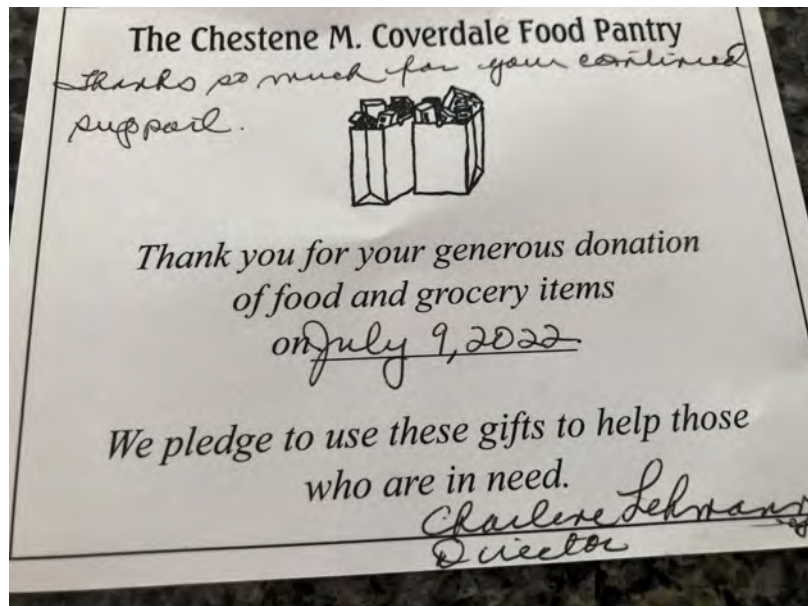

Thank you letters received by Outreach

Dear B'nai Israel,

I was informed by our development team at HIAS of the exceedingly generous contribution you made to HIAS to support our work. Especially in the wake of the recent crises in Afghanistan and in Ukraine – the work of helping refugees has hit home for many of us in the Jewish community. As we say at HIAS – we once helped people because they were Jewish. Now we help them because WE are Jewish. Thank you for helping to make our work possible.

And as the Director of Clergy and Congregations, I would be remiss not to let you know that we have many ways for congregations to deepen their involvement in this work. If you ever want to discuss pathways for your community, please don't hesitate to reach out.

Best,
Rabbi Sarah Bassin
HAIS

Thank you for all of your generous donations to make this possible.

Together we can make a difference.

Membership Committee Asks for Your Help

Joel Silverman

Our Temple Membership Committee is anxious to get the word out to the community-at-large: "What is B'nai Israel Reform Temple? Who are we? What are we all about?" The flyer on the next page tries to answer those questions. But the Committee needs your help in getting that information out to the public. We ask that you print/copy a flyer or two or three and find bulletin boards in places you frequent; your community center, supermarket, or anywhere else public bulletin boards are available and leave the flyer where it can be seen by others.

Please make sure that locations(s) you chose allow postings and that you follow whatever rules are in place for that location.

With a Congregation spread across much of the area, wide distribution of information about "us" will reach those who may have an interest in finding out more or becoming involved. This is especially true just prior to the High Holy Days.

Your help in spreading the word will be very much appreciated. Thank you.

Emergency Blood Drive. How did we do?

Joel Silverman

After a spring blood drive that was something of a disappointment to all of us, the Long Island Blood Center came back to B'nai Israel with yet another "short-fuse" emergency request. Consistent with newspaper and television accounts in the Metropolitan area and nationally, the ongoing shortage of blood became a crisis over the summer and our help was needed once again. A Long Island-based crew was available on August 8th if we could squeeze it in, although it was a few days too soon for some of our repeat donors. The Blood Center sent a staff sufficient to draw thirty units of blood over six hours.

And, we took advantage of the opportunity to help. A sincere "thank you" to the thirty-four volunteers who showed up on a hot, humid day, three quarters of them Temple members. When all was said and done, by evening, thirty-one units were collected and delivered to the Blood Center. Several donors were first-timers at B'nai Israel and at least one was a first-time-ever blood donor. Did the crisis go away thanks to that effort? No, but we stepped up to the challenge, as we most often do, and thanks to those volunteers we were able to make a meaningful contribution our Long Island community.

Thank you also to Paige Sacks, Debby Lazen, and Alice Lambert who provided oversight throughout the day to ensure that all went smoothly.

Because the crisis continues, if you missed the on-site Temple blood drive, but are anxious to donate at your convenience, consider going to the nearby LI Blood Center on Vets Highway in Bohemia and use Group Number 62531 to designate B'nai Israel for donor credit.

We will coordinate with the Blood Center to schedule our traditional winter blood drive at the end of the year.

In order to have the album ready for this year's High Holy Days, we must begin right now!

Attached are samples of the different size memorials from prior Yizkor books.
